Projects

Booki.me

02/2021

Bookime is a Business scheduling web app that provides users with the platform to create businesses, create services under their businesses and our app provides mini webpages to help their clients book sessions with these businesses. My role was the lead designer for the app. It was my first real project in UI design after training but it gave me so much knowledge and exposure in the application development cycle.

currency converter

01/2022

This project is a simple currency conversion web app which seeks a quick means for users to convert their local currencies with various international currencies. This projects was designed and implemented by myself. I created the web app using Vue Js and a currency rate API. This project helped me improve more as a software engineer as I encountered errors which I had to read and broaden my knowledge on

Organisations

Meta Developer Circle - Accra

Volunteer Lead Designer

06/2021 – present
Accra, Ghana

Meta Developer circle is a tech community that aims to help new and existing software developers socialize and share resources to assist every member to add value to themselves as developers. My role is as a design lead. Because of my graphic design background, I volunteered to help the organization design program fliers and information graphics. And I am hoping to one day be a mentor to other developers and engineers.
